

Adam Clennell B.Eng (Hons)

Human Resources Advisor

Adam works as an HR generalist and has been working in HR for 3 years. Adam predominately works in the field of disciplinary and grievance, working diligently on both investigations and hearings. Adam also works on individual projects and has worked closely with a number of our clients on individual projects. He has, on occassion, been embedded within a Client's Organisation acting as an interim HR manager. Adam works very strategically and his business focus is a key strength, valued by our clients.

Adam's background is as a Civil Engineer and construction project manager, with 20 years of business experience in both the service and construction industries. He worked for some of the major UK contractors such as Costain, Balfour Beatty, Skanska and Mowlem. Adam's role as a Civil Engineer kept him focused on successful project management, planning, budgetary management and of course health and safety. Following a successful career in Construction, Adam decided to 'hang up his boots' and join Eden as the company grew and to pursue his interest in effective business and people management.

Adam studied Civil Engineering at Loughborough University, graduating in 2000. Before that he studied his HNC at the University of Derby where he received two prizes for his work, the Balfour Beatty prize and the Thomas Telford Cup. Adam is IOSH qualified and currently undertaking his studies to become a chartered member of the CIPD

Recommendations for Adam

“Adam and I first worked together on a project for a mutual client. His previous experience in management in industry gives him a unique insight into the challenges facing employers 'at the coalface' and he translates this into a well-informed and pragmatic approach to HR problem-solving. He can be robust when necessary but is also aware of the importance of handling tricky situations sensitively.”

Matthew Clayton – Rickerbys LLP

“Adam has asked me to advise on a number of employment matters and is a pleasure to work with. He is both proactive and pragmatic.”

Simon Collingridge - Rickerbys LLP
